

ZOLTÁN SÁRA is Managing Partner of Innotica Group, a leading European knowledge enterprise. Passionate about innovation, design, technology and software development, since more than two decades Zoltán takes a leadership role in delivering innovative technology applications that stimulate performance, creativity and dynamic growth.

Zoltán had a highly successful career in the ICT industry as software development professional, leading several innovative technology development projects and managing start-up companies within the industry.

Zoltán was also Visiting Lecturer and Research Fellow in Information Technology at Semmelweis University's Institute of Information Technology. He is currently also involved in research projects, focusing on knowledge management, cleantech development, biotechnology and bioinformatics.

Zoltán holds an MSc degree in Electrical Engineering from the Technical University of Budapest. He is enrolled in the PhD Program at Semmelweis University.